Peerless Employees Again Find Ways to Help Assisting those in need is becoming as common as building pumps

(Indianapolis, IN, February, 2010)– On the heels of collecting nearly a truckload of clothing and household goods for America’s veterans and $5,000 plus 3,000 pounds of food for Gleaners Food Bank, the employees of Peerless Pump Company have done it again. Under the theme “Haiti Relief Week” and using a combination of event tickets, gift baskets and additional vacation days, Peerless held raffles at their headquarters in Indianapolis as well as their satellite facilities that with a company match, will allow for the donation of more than $8,000 to the Haiti relief effort. “The tickets for the Jay-Z and Cirque du Soleil events as well as items donated by the Indiana Pacers allowed for us to create a fun way to raise funds for people hit so hard by the earthquake” said Brandie Turner who oversees the Employee Activity Committee at Peerless.

“It’s just another example of the type of people who work at Peerless” said Fred Bock Vice President of Marketing at Peerless. “After a wonderful show of generosity for our Veterans Day and Gleaners events, the team once again showed that they will always find a way to get things done” Bock added.

Peerless’ parent company Grundfos, also has set up a mechanism for employees to donate directly through the company’s intranet site to the Red Cross/Red Crescent efforts. As of last week collections had already exceeded $40,000.
